Formula 100

Economy Transmission fluid

Formula 100 Economy Transmission Fluid is a general purpose lubricating fluid. This economy grade product contains low levels of additive that help provide minimal protection from rust and corrosion of equipment. Economy transmission fluid is dyed red for easy detection of leaks. Formula 100 Economy Transmission Fluid is not designed to meet the requirements of any particular type or brand of transmission.

Always follow equipment manufacturers' recommendations for type and quality of oil

Typical properties: Typical properties of economy transmission fluid can fluctuate more than other lubricating products.
